Mistake in Orders.
As No. 8 drew into Husted at about forty miles an hour, the crew of the engine saw a light engine standing on the switch north of the station. Mistaking the engine for the second section of No. 1, the crew did not stop and went through the station as fast as the two engines could draw the heavily-laden coaches. As soon as the train got out of the station the engineer of the first engine of No. 8 saw another train coming slowly down the incline.
He slammed on the airbrakes and the emergency brakes and then shouted to the other members of the crew to jump. Before they had time to jump No. 8 had rammed No. 1 so hard that all three engines lay in the ditch. Fireman J. A. Gossage of No. 8 was killed as he was firing his engine and never knew what struck him.
The members of the other crew escaped serious injuries by jumping. The engineer on the first engine of No. 8 is said to have been working as an extra and since the wreck has been acting

MIGHTY WIZARD OF WASATCH GIVES WONDERFUL MESSAGE

After Countless Years, Hatu, in Form of Prominent Citizen, Visits City.

"Silence All! Hark to the Message of the Mighty Wizard of the Wasatch!"
Following the mighty blasts of the quartet of heralds, Huitzilopotchi, prime minister to Hatu, the Wizard of the Wasatch, made this announcement from the pedestal on which he stood at the intersection of Main and Temple streets at 9:30 o'clock last evening.
From out of his jeweled cavern in the unknown recesses of the mountains somewhere beyond the entrance to Emigration canyon, the Wizard of the Wasatch had come with all of his mystic power to greet his children of the valley. On the pedestal, before thousands of waiting people, the guardian Wizard stood and broke the silence of the thousands of years since creation and began to speak to his people.
In his message the Wizard told the people of the valley of the Great Salt Lake that his visit was a pleasant one. He had come before them in human form to express his pleasure at their prosperity, to tell them that he would continue to bestow on them his magnificent gifts more lavishly than before, and to announce that each summer he would visit this great city to tell them of further blessings they would receive.

FLAUNT FLAG BEFORE TURKS

Crete Raises Greek Banner and Powers Demand That It Be Lowered.

London, Aug. 14.—Unless Greece complies with the demand of Turkey and forces the people of Crete to haul down the Greek flag which they have hoisted, the four protecting powers of Crete, Great Britain, Russia, Italy and France will perform this act, using force if necessary. This was the substance of a joint note signed by the four powers and presented to the Turkish government today. In order to carry out this policy and to be prepared to use force if necessary to oblige the Cretans to pull down the objectionable flag, each of the four protecting powers decided today to send an additional warship to Crete, the capital of the island of Crete. At the same time they expressed hope to the Turkish government that in view of the steps they have taken, Turkey would not think it necessary to order their fleet to Crete waters.
The joint note of the powers to Turkey today is the direct result of a communication from the Cretan government declaring that it was unable to force the hauling down of the Greek flag. This action of the powers followed sharply upon Turkey's note to Greece yesterday demanding a formal declaration respecting Crete.

Her sufferings were terrible, she said.

This statement was made by Surgeon General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service today when asked concerning the visit of Dr. Lavinder, the pellagra expert, of Peoria, Ill., where the disease is believed to have developed in the Illinois insane asylum.

Dr. Wyman stated that Dr. Lavinder was sent there to have under observation fifty patients believed to be affected with the disease.

San Rafael, Cal., Aug. 14.—Millionaire William B. Bradburg, sentenced to serve a term in San Quentin for perjury, must remain in the Marin county jail until the termination of a thirty-days' reprieve granted him recently by Governor Gillette. Such was the decision of Superior Judge Lennon today, after hearing arguments on an application for the release on parole of the aged capitalist. In denying the writ, Judge Lennon said that even now Bradburg was defrauding the court of $40, given him by mistake by the clerk.

THOUSANDS AT RECEPTION OF THE CARDINAL

Every Creed Was Represented in Great Throng That Kissed Seal Ring.

EVENT MARKS AN EPOCH IN HISTORY OF CHURCH

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS EXTENDS BLESSING TO PROTESTANTS AND CATHOLICS ALIKE.

More than 3,000 persons of every creed and of no creed knelt yesterday before James Cardinal Gibbons, the ranking Roman Catholic prelate of the western hemisphere, and the only American member of the college of cardinals, and pressed their lips to the great seal ring, the insignia of his priestly office, on the occasion of his formal public reception at the residence of Right Rev. Laurence Scanlan, bishop of Salt Lake.

The affair marks an epoch in the history of the west, as well as an epoch in the history of the Roman Catholic history of the world. For the first time a Roman Catholic cardinal has paid an official visit to the west. For many of those, in fact for nearly all, it was the first time they had ever seen a Roman Catholic cardinal. To be presented officially to a member of the college of cardinals was the privilege of a lifetime, and thousands eagerly embraced the opportunity.

From 4 o'clock until 6 yesterday afternoon Cardinal Gibbons received an apparently endless stream of people. Some of these were communicants of the Roman Catholic church in the United States. Others, however, came out of curiosity. But more attended the reception because it gave them the privilege of meeting a man whose religious influence is extended over one of the largest churches of the world, a man whose vote helps to select the pope, who occupies the throne of St. Peter in Rome, the absolute head of all the Catholics in the world, and who exercises a power greater than any crowned king has ever attempted to hold.

Many Arrive Early.

Before the hour set for the formal reception carriages and automobiles had brought to Bishop Scanlan's residence hundreds of people waiting to be presented to the cardinal. Shortly after 4 o'clock these people were ushered into the reception room by a dozen pretty little girls.

The austere dignity of the plainness in furnishings and decorations that is always to be found in the residence of a Roman Catholic prelate was pleasantly relieved by festoons of American flags and great clusters of beautiful flowers. Back of the cardinal's throne the green and gold with the harp of Erin, was entwined with the blue and white stars of a background of flaming scarlet the coat of arms of the cardinal was displayed at his throne.

As the people entered the reception room they were met by Joseph Geoghegan and by him presented to Right Rev. Laurence Scanlan, bishop of Salt Lake. Then they were presented to his eminence, James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore. After meeting the cardinal the guests were presented in turn to Right Rev. Dennis J. O'Connell, coadjutor archbishop of San Francisco; Right Rev. Alphonsus J. Glorieux, bishop of Idaho; His Grace John S. Foley, archbishop of Detroit, and His Grace John J. Glennon, archbishop of Detroit.

Mrs. W. A. McCaskel was the hostess of the occasion. With her in the receiving line were Mrs. O. J. Salisbury, Mrs. Frank Judge, Mrs. Jasper A. McCaskel, Miss McCormick and Miss Genevieve McCormick.

Has Wonderful Memory.

One of the pretty incidents of the reception was the recitation of Mrs. P. L. Hannafan of Pocatello, one of the soprano soloists of St. Mary's dedication choir. As the soloist knelt before the cardinal the prelate smiled and said:

"My dear, I have met you before."

"Yes, Your Eminence," replied the singer.

The cardinal would not let her tell him where they had met before. He waited until he recalled from the depths of his wonderful memory the occasion of their previous meeting. It was twelve years previous when Mrs. Hannafan, then Miss Mary Burke, was a resident of Boston. On the occasion of meeting the cardinal she was the leading soprano soloist of the dedication choir of the cathedral of St. Mary of the Assumption at Bar Harbor, Mich.

CHILDREN OF LIVING FLAG ENTHUSE MANY

Twelve Hundred Little Ones March and Sing Before Thousands of Spectators.

MARCHERS ARE CHEERED ALONG ROUTE OF PARADE

SPECTACLE BRINGS FORTH OVA-TION WHEN OLD GLORY WAVES AS IF IN BREEZE.

Amid enthusiasm more demonstrative than that exhibited when the old veterans marched down Main street on Wednesday morning, the little children of the living flag formed, marched and sang with all Salt Lake looking on last night. It was the completion of that part of the flag program which the terrific heat and consequent prostrations in the ranks of the children, interfered with on parade day. It was the crown-jewel glory of encampment week and a fitting one.

The little tots, 1,200 strong, responded loyally to the second call of their leader and with Main street a solid bank of humanity on either side for half a mile, they marched and counter-marched, singing the patriotic song and song also. When the Pioneer monument, the starting place, had been reached on the return, they stopped, and under the magnetic direction of Professor William A. Wetzel, went through the pretty movements which made the living flag a thing of beauty the day the veterans marched beneath its living folds with cheers and tears of patriotism.

The cool evening breezes pervaded where the blistering heat was Wednesday, and the children, unhampered by the sun, seemed to enjoy their part. Each child, a veritable fairy child in graceful draperies of the colors red, white and blue, carried a tiny flag and those of the blue field held white stars above their heads. And they marched in perfect formation, their voices mingling with the martial strains of bands that marched with them.

Thousands Fill Street.

Twenty thousand persons, imbued with all the patriotism engendered by a week of reveling in the glories of the past, packed the line of march and cheered with more spirit than any event of the encampment has yet called forth. The veterans, those who had not departed, were to be seen here and there in the crowded ranks, appreciating to the full the significance of this embodiment of Old Glory. It marked the close of the most glorious period in Salt Lake's history and the crowds gave due recognition of the fact.

The second appearance of the living flag came as a result of hundreds of requests from those who were unable to witness the spectacle of the children dressed in national colors on the flag-stand Wednesday. Many thousands were unable to get a full view of Main street on the morning of the parade and waited in tense expectancy the proposed march of the flag from the stand at Seventh South and Main streets to the monument corner. When the announcement was made that owing to the intense heat and numerous prostrations among the children, the latter half of the program had been dispensed with, disappointment was everywhere evidenced. Pressure was brought to bear on Professor Wetzel to conclude his program. The latter, upon conferring with the executive committee, promised to repeat the living flag and last night's inspiring spectacle was the result.

Children Respond.

Few children with the exception of a few hundred, responded promptly to the call to meet at the assembly hall at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, where they were again given their capes and caps and after a short rehearsal, marched to Main and South Temple streets, where the flag was formed. Street-car traffic was shut off for an hour while the flag formed and awaited the starting signal.

Headed by Field's band and the ladies of the G. A. R. band the flag marched to Fourth South street and counter-marched to South Temple street. Professor Wetzel, mounted on the seat of a car, directed his little charges as they marched and when the monument was reached he put them through the special movements which produced the wonderful effects of a real flag rippling in the breeze. This was admirably effected by a singular backward and forward movement of the various stripes in unison. The people, packed several rows deep, made a great amphitheatre of Main street during these exercises.

The president today altered his previous tour through Arizona to include Phoenix and Prescott in the places to be visited on his western trip. After a brief stop at Phoenix on the 12th, he will proceed to Prescott, whence he will resume his journey to the Grand canyon.
President Taft took his brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, out on the Essex Country club golf links today and "beat him to a frazzle." The president declared he had too much love for his brother to say what the final score of the match was.
